Welcome

Welcome to Cutcher & Neale! We're a team of passionate people who believe in working together to achieve incredible things. If you're looking for a place where you can learn, grow, and contribute to something bigger than yourself, you've come to the right place. This careers booklet will introduce you to our values, our people, and the exciting opportunities that await you.

It all starts with our manifesto➤

Where go-getters and go-givers come to grow.

We are united by a passion for innovation, impact and human potential. Here, ambition and altruism intertwine, inspiring us to reach new heights while lifting others along the journey.

We are go-getters; relentless in our pursuit of excellence and determined to overcome any obstacle. We nurture your potential, providing the resources and support to help you achieve your professional aspirations and enjoy the journey while you are at it.

We are go-givers; fostering a supportive environment where teamwork and recognition are key. We lift each other up, promote balance, and celebrate our shared success. We also take corporate responsibility seriously and are committed to making an impact beyond our workplace.

Together, we create a culture where individuals thrive, and we build a future that inspires.

Why a career in accounting at Cutcher & Neale is the unexpected dream job.

If you love solving puzzles, thinking strategically, and making a real impact, then a career in our accounting and financial services firm might be your perfect match! It's a dynamic field that's constantly evolving, offering exciting opportunities to work in any industry you can imagine.

Here's the deal:

Be the Force Behind the Success: Ever wondered how a luxury hotel chain keeps guests happy or a tech startup launches its next big product? You could be the financial strategist making it happen. From funding clinic expansions to helping non-profits improve efficiency, accountants and financial professionals are essential to every industry.

More than Numbers: Modern financial services are all about solving real-world problems. It's less about number crunching and more about strategic thinking. Think of it as solving a puzzle: you bring the pieces together to create a clear path for smarter decisions and better results.

Skills for Life: Want to negotiate a killer deal? Manage your personal finances like a boss? Create investment opportunities? Financial skills are your secret weapon! You'll learn to think critically, make informed decisions, and understand the language of business – skills that will take you far, no matter what you choose to do.

Always on Demand: The demand for skilled accountants and financial experts is skyrocketing! This puts you in a prime position to secure a rewarding career with excellent job security and plenty of room for growth.

Level Up Your Earning Power: A career in financial services can be seriously lucrative! With the right qualifications and experience, you can open doors to a wide range of exciting career opportunities and job responsibilities.

So, if you're looking for a career that's challenging, rewarding, and surprisingly exciting, accounting and financial services might just be your unexpected dream job!

How do you get there?

No two career paths look the same – some are straight and steady, while others take unexpected turns. At Cutcher & Neale, we know that careers are often “squiggly,” shaped by opportunities, challenges, and moments of growth. What matters most is identifying the path that feels right for you and taking deliberate steps to move forward.

Whether you’re just starting out or looking to take your next big leap, planning your career is about balancing curiosity, commitment, and flexibility. With the right mindset and support, you can chart a course that aligns with your strengths, passions, and long-term goals.

Keen on a career in Accounting?

Whether it be taxation and financial services, audit and assurance, financial planning and wealth management, or superannuation, it all begins in the same place. Start building your knowledge by taking electives like business studies, finance, commerce, and economics during your high school years. Then, pursue a bachelor’s degree in a related field such as business, accounting or commerce.

Looking to make a career in Insurance?

Start by building your foundation in electives like business studies at high school. A bachelor’s degree in business will give you a solid start to your professional career, and you go on to complete insurance broking qualifications to make sure you have the skills to get great outcomes.

Ready to get into Residential and Commercial Finance?

Help people reach their property dreams by taking electives that build your foundation in business studies, finance, and economics during your high school years. Then, pursue a bachelor’s degree in a related field, such as Finance, Commerce, or Property Economics.

Do Business Systems sound more like your thing?

Use technology to solve business problems by taking electives like business studies, information technology, and information systems in high school. Then, consider a bachelor’s degree in business, information technology, or a related field.

Is Corporate Services your passion?

To get you started, consider electives like business, communications and finance during your high school years. Then, pursue a bachelor’s degree in a related field such as Business Administration, Marketing, Human Resources, Commerce, or Accounting, depending on where your passions lie.

The epic stories of our true professionals >

At Cutcher & Neale, every team member has a story worth telling.

"I was able to pivot

my entire career within the same firm."

My time at Cutcher & Neale has been extremely rewarding, it's allowed me to grow professionally, personally, and pivot my career to where my life is headed, not the other way around.

I started with the Marketing Team as a 23-year-old Graphic Designer. It was my first ever 'office job' and I had absolutely no idea what to expect. From the very get-go I was warmly welcomed, supported to grow and learn, and able to develop some great friendships, as well as offered fantastic opportunities along the way.

Most importantly for me, was the fact that I was able to have a chat with my team, share that I was looking for something fresh and wanted to take my career in a different direction. They were more than accommodating, and I was able to pivot my entire career within the same firm and am now working toward completing my Bachelor of Commerce (Financial Planning) whilst working in the industry, and getting ample support along the way.

Add to that; the fantastic people you'll meet, endless social activities, continuous development in your role and getting spoilt by our Impact and Engagement Committee, it's truly a rewarding place to build your career.

"I consider myself fortunate.

Why? Because I get to do what I love every single day."

I'm not used to people being interested in what I do, not even my wife or kids! But let me walk you through a day in the life of a Portfolio Manager...

My journey to my "career nirvana" began in 2004. While studying Commerce at university, I joined Cutcher & Neale as a Trainee Accountant. Always "good at maths" and fascinated by the share market, I quickly realised my passion lay in investment management. This led me to a decade-long stint at Colonial First State Global Asset Management (now First Sentier Investors), where I gained invaluable experience in Australian and international equities, as well as global fixed income and credit.

As a Portfolio Manager, my mornings start bright and early. I begin my day by catching up on overnight market developments while enjoying my muesli, yoghurt, and fruit. Mornings are dedicated to 'reading, learning, and thinking,' with publications like the Australian Financial Review, Wall Street Journal, and Bloomberg. When I talk about loving what I do, this is what I am referring to. Every day brings something new to learn in the relentless pursuit of returns for our clients.

At the office, the Cutcher & Neale Financial Planning and Wealth Management team and I get to work, full of coffee and ideas. Our typical discussions include: "Did you see that?" or "Should we adjust the portfolio?" We then conduct detailed research and analysis and monitor local markets in Australia and Asia closely during the remainder of the day.

Evenings for me involve family time. I also watch Bloomberg Television to see what investors are focused on leading into a new trading session in the United States and Europe during the night ahead. The next day, I can't wait to start it all over again.

Nicole Brown Partner, Medico

“They encouraged my ideas and supported my ambition. That’s how I went from bookkeeping to system consulting to leading a thriving division.”

Michael Graham Partner, Business Systems

You know, I almost became a teacher! But a last-minute nudge from my dad and brother steered me towards studying commerce at the University of Newcastle – and I haven’t looked back. Accounting was in my blood, I guess!

Cutcher & Neale came into my life in 2004, thanks to a referral from a friend. They were probably surprised I stayed, given my 1.5-hour commute at the time.

Cutcher & Neale became my professional home, where I climbed the ranks from Intermediate Accountant to Client Service Manager to Associate and finally Partner. Along the way I’ve worked closely with the Medico Partners to grow and lead the team, and had big wins like moving our accounting software from APS to Xero Practice Manager.

When I became Partner, I wasn’t sure it was for me – but I had a fantastic mentor who helped me see my potential and was encouraged to “be bold and brave”. Some days are tough, but all days are rewarding.

The firm has been incredibly flexible and supportive throughout my journey, especially when I became a mum of two. Supporting my family is my “why”; my motivation for coming to work. I worked part-time while building my career, and now, as a full-time professional, I have never missed a special occasion for my children.

Recently, I took the opportunity to move my family to Brisbane for work, which has been both challenging and rewarding. A new city, new adventures!

I’m loving getting to know the team here and enjoying all the social activities.

One of the best things about Cutcher & Neale is the friendships I’ve made. Even those who have moved on, we’ve stayed close.

Every day is different at Cutcher & Neale. Sure, there’s a learning curve in the early years, but no two career paths have to be the same. Cutcher & Neale values individuality and flexibility, and I love that about this firm.

When I joined Cutcher & Neale 26 years ago, fresh-faced and ready to take on the world, I never could have pictured where I’d be today. Back then, I was juggling labouring jobs with full-time studies at TAFE, working towards an Associate Diploma of Accounting. University wasn’t really my thing – I’ve always been more of a hands-on learner.

Cutcher & Neale gave me my start, a role that blended bookkeeping with system consulting. It was a time of big change in the business world, with old systems on their way out and MYOB becoming the hot new thing. I thrived on that challenge, learning fast and adapting to the changing landscape.

Over the years, my role evolved. I went from rolling out MYOB systems to diving deep into the world of ERP solutions. I was always pushing boundaries, always looking for ways to grow and learn. And Cutcher & Neale gave me the space to do just that. They encouraged my ideas and supported my ambition. That’s how I went from bookkeeping to system consulting to leading a thriving division.

Now, I head up a team of amazing professionals who are experts in system integrations, custom reporting, and all things data. We’re helping clients streamline their operations, sometimes reducing their software tools from 26 down to 13! We’re implementing systems that improve data flow and help businesses make smarter decisions. It’s incredibly rewarding to see the impact we make.

My advice to anyone starting their career? Be curious, work hard, and soak up every bit of knowledge you can. You never know what skills will come in handy down the road.

My journey at Cutcher & Neale has been full of unexpected twists and turns, and I wouldn’t trade it for anything. It’s proof that with the right mindset and a supportive environment, you can achieve amazing things. So come join us and forge your own path to success!
